

What to Wear

- First and foremost you should be comfortable. Your kids should feel comfortable enough to run, dance and play and be their genuine selves.
- Choose 1-3 colors with similar tones that go nicely together. Be careful not to overly match.
- Don't know where to start? It's often a great idea for Mom to pick an outfit and build the families outfits around hers or build other outfits around the one person's outfit with the most colors.
- When choosing your colors look at your home décor. If you are planning to frame photographs (which I hope you will) your clothes should go with the color scheme of your home. Or at least not clash with it.
- Limit patterns in your clothing choices. One person with a patterned shirt or dress is often enough. It can be too distracting otherwise.
- Accessories are great! Scarves, hats, jewelry and layers you can interchange throughout the shoot are ways to give images in your shoot slightly different looks.
- Please avoid characters or large logos on your children's clothing – they can be very distracting and can take the focus away from your child's adorable face.
- Go here to see my Pinterest board of wardrobe ideas and inspiration.